

CHESTERFIELDS ON STREET CARS.

Brooklyn's Motormen and Conductors Transformed by a System of Prizes for Courtesy and Honesty.

Within a day or two the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company will distribute among those of its conductors and motormen who have never been charged with carelessness, dishonesty or discourtesy $10,000 in prizes as tokens of said company's esteem and gratification.

The promise of this reward was made last Fall, after the strike had been settled by the defeat of the men, and from that moment the men were expected to live with one another in heroic deeds and feats of honor and chivalry. The result is startling. The roll of honor contains the names of 1,139 Chevalier Bayards, Sir Lancelots, Chesterfields and George Washingtons, each one of whom, as you find by computation, will receive $8.77 and a fraction of a cent.

The company takes the matter seriously. "All our employees," said President Rossiter yesterday, "are perfectly satisfied with their position now. Five motormen were discharged last month and five resigned. In the corresponding month last year six left us. The relations between the men and the company, you see, have entirely changed. The offer of the prizes has had wonderful results."

The most striking feature of it all is the cheapness of the thing. Think of the motorman who danced a waltz jig on his splendid gig and yelled himself red in the face to frighten you out of his way, or of the conductor who shouted: "Tra-fer-r-r-r Boer-un-rum-yerrum-m-m-b-a-z-z swish-awash-ink!" reformed for $8.77—just think!

This reform of reform offers a rare philosophical and psychological study. You must begin considering the conditions that existed before the chivalrous era struck in. In those days, as you will no doubt remember, homicide on the part of motormen was an act of virtue, manslaughter a deed of merit, while mauling a human being beyond the recognition of his mother was a performance of rare excellence.

This state of affairs is best described by the following terse joke which once appeared in a funny periodical and, which like most jokes, mirrored the prevailing condition of things.

In the Stable.

First Motorman—Any look to-day?
Second Motorman—No; only a dog.
Now, as Thomas Carlyle would say at this stage, behold what happened! The motorman came to shove and the conductors put on clean collars. When the motorman saw a truck in his path, no longer did he exclaim, in red-faced wrath, "Get the blankety blankety blank out of my blankety blank way, or I'll smash yer blankety blankety blank liver through the blankety bottom of your blankety blank truck, the blankety blankety blankety blank!" Ah, no! In dulcet tones, sweet as the strains of a lute, he carolled blithely:

"Kind sir, will you have the goodness to accelerate the pace of your horses so as to allow me to carry my precious cargo past you?"

And then, as the amazed truck driver drew his team out of the way—
"Thank you, sir. From the bottom of my heart, I thank you!"

See?
And the conductors—they out-Chesterfielded Chesterfield.

"Ladies and gentlemen, this car only goes as far as Flatbush. If any of you should desire to go to Flatlands, it pains me to inform you that you will be under the necessity of changing cars when we get to Flatbush. Far be it from me to put you to this inconvenience. I am but the humble employee of the company. Gladly, indeed, would I carry you all the way, but alas! you must change. Even tempora mutantur!"

That, say officers of the company, was brought about by the promise of a prize. The conductor who awoke in the middle of the night and found that he had forgotten to ring up a stray nickel tossed about in a nightgown of day, when he rushed to the treasurer's office and made good the deficit. It then—so say the officers of the company—became almost a pleasure to cross the path of a trolley car. Not only did the motorman stop the car half a block away, but the conductor got off and escorted the pedestrians across the street. People who live in Brooklyn know how that is.

A Journal reporter went to Brooklyn yesterday to see how the new order of affairs worked. In Brooklyn, you know, all trolley roads lead to the Bridge, and there they crowd along one upon the heels of another. The reporter held up his hand. Every car in sight came to a standstill. They remained at a standstill for half an hour until a truck that had broken down between the tracks was pulled out of the way.

"Sir," said the reporter, handing the conductor a dime, "I am very sorry to put you to the inconvenience of making change, but the fact is I have not a nickel in my pocket."

"What," suavely replied the conductor, "what in the devil are you giving us?"
"President Rossiter has just told me how courteous you men have all become."

"Did the old geezer really say that?" asked the conductor, seemingly pleased.
"Indeed he did."

"Well," was the smiling reflection, "I'll be d—d!"
Just then a woman boarded the car, an elderly woman, with a resolute face, and as she passed the conductor she frowned and whispered something to him.

"Get in and sit down," he retorted. "You make me weary."
The reporter gazed at him reproachfully.

"Oh, that's all right," was his cheerful explanation. "That's me mother-in-law." Now there are people in this world, particularly in Brooklyn, who will look askance at this story, and, after a suspicious sniff, will declare that they have not noticed any improvement in the murderous inclination of motormen or the vile toughness of conductors, and will even maintain that they have never known a trolley car to stop in the middle of a block to oblige a passenger. But who can help the short-sightedness of some people or their lack of the powers of observation?

A VICTORY FOR ALTGELD.
With the Delegates Chosen at Chicago Yesterday He Can Control the State Convention.

Chicago, May 26.—Governor Altgeld won the silver right in Cook County to-day. The platform adopted by the Democratic Convention was drawn by him, and is the same as the resolutions to be presented at the Peoria State Convention.

The gathering was counted almost exclusively to supporters of free silver, the "honest money" Democrats refusing to vote for delegates to the convention at yesterday's primaries.

The platform demands the immediate restoration of the bimetallic system, and the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver, without waiting for any other nation.

The 362 delegates to the State Convention at Peoria were elected almost exclusively to supporters of free silver, the "honest money" Democrats refusing to vote for delegates to the convention at yesterday's primaries.

WENT CRASHING TO THEIR DEATH.

Between Fifty and Sixty People Drowned in British Columbia.

Electric Car Crowded with Passengers Runs Off the Track on a High Bridge.

SEVENTY-FIVE INTO THE WATER.

The Unfortunate People Were on Their Way to a Sham Battle, One of the Features of the Queen's Birthday Celebration.

Victoria, B. C., May 26.—The most terrible accident that ever took place in this vicinity occurred this afternoon, when an electric car fell through the Point Ellice Bridge into an arm of James Bay.

A sham battle at MacAuley Point was on the programme to-day as a part of the celebration of the Queen's birthday, and nearly the whole of the population of the city had gone out to witness it. The day was practically a holiday in the city.

The electric cars running out to the scene of the battle had been overcrowded all the forenoon. Every car was full, not only inside, but as many as could do so clung on the outside as well. The car to which the accident happened contained about eighty persons. Even the roof was occupied. In crossing the Point Ellice Bridge it left the track, crashing through the railings and fell into the water, seventy-five feet below.

The fall was so sudden and unexpected that all the passengers were carried with it. The car floated for a moment, and then was carried down by the weight of the metal attached to it. Those inside were unable to escape, and were drowned like rats in a trap. Some of those on the outside escaped by swimming, but many, stunned by the fall, or unable to swim, were drowned.

Between fifty and sixty persons were drowned.

It will probably be several days before the real extent of the disaster can be learned.

As soon as possible the work of recovering the bodies was begun.

ACTOR BETHEL DIES IN JAIL.
Death Prevents His Trial for Murderously Assaulting His Wife.

Hartford, Conn., May 26.—Edwin Bethel, the actor, who was in jail awaiting trial on a charge of assault on his wife, with intent to kill, died in the jail this morning. He had been breaking down since he was examined, about a week ago, by two physicians, Dr. Graham Hamilton, of New York, on the part of the defence, and Dr. Stearns, of this city, for the State, to determine his sanity. He was pronounced by both to be sane and this destroyed the defence that his lawyers had intended to set up.

Four days ago bronchitis and cerebral spinal meningitis developed and yesterday word of his hopeless condition was sent to New York to his wife and his sister, Mrs. Bethel, the sister having married a man of the same name.

Dallas Tyler, his wife, Mrs. Ashlin, Mrs. Bethel, and her daughter came to Hartford to-day, but reached here after Bethel's death. They left to-night after arrangements had been made for having the body sent to New York to-morrow for burial.

NEW ELECTRICAL COMPANY.
New York and Other Capitalists Form a $5,000,000 Combination.

Albany, May 26.—A new electrical manufacturing combination called the Walker Company has been formed. New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Cleveland capitalists are interested. Among them are ex-Governor Flower, Anthony N. Brady, J. W. Hinkley, Mr. Belmont, Dallas Selden, William Rorabacher, Parker C. Chandler, Frank Billings and Jacob B. Perkins.

J. V. Hinkley, a Peoria people, who organized the new company, says the capital will be $5,000,000.

Shipwrecked Sailors Landed.
Captain Inis and eight seamen, the crew of the lost Nova Scotia bark J. H. Dexter, arrived here yesterday afternoon on the Atlas liner Alene. The Dexter stranded in a fog on Hog Sties in the Caribbean. The captain and crew put part of their personal effects in one of the lifeboats and rowed to Castle Island, forty miles away. From there they were sent to Port-au-Prince, where they secured passage on the Alene. The vessel was a total loss.

Can't Eat
This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. Their blood has become impoverished and impure, and that causes trouble with every function of the body. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system.

WANT GILMAN AT ANY PRICE
Money No Object in Securing Him as Head of City Schools.

It was announced yesterday that several prominent millionaires had told Dr. Pearse that not to allow a matter of money to stand in the way of Dr. Gilman's acceptance of the position of Superintendent of the City Schools.

The salary attached to the position is a third smaller than what Dr. Gilman received as president of the Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore. Besides this he gets a house rent free in Brooklyn. The gentlemen who spoke to Dr. Pearse said they were ready to make up any loss Dr. Gilman would suffer by making the change. In addition to which they were willing to reimburse Johns Hopkins University for any loss in losing Dr. Gilman. Dr. Pearse, who suggested Dr. Gilman, name to the Board of Education, and who is the only one authorized to speak for him, declined to make public the names of the gentlemen who made the offer. Dr. Pearse thinks that Dr. Gilman will be chosen at to-morrow's meeting of the Board of Education, and he is confident that the proposition will be accepted.

LEEPERS MAY AWAKEN.

Mrs. Rosenfeld Stirred by Electricity and Morris Front Shows Signs of Consciousness.

Electricity was applied yesterday to Mrs. Monroe Rosenfeld, the woman who has been sleeping for two weeks at No. 154 Jay street, Brooklyn. One pole of a battery was placed in her right hand and the other under her arm. The current was turned on strong and it seemed to improve her.

After the shock Mrs. Rosenfeld opened her eyes and made an attempt to speak, but failed. When nourishment was offered to her she assisted herself to eat with one hand and by her look showed that she understood. The doctors believe that in a day or two she will be convalescent. Morris Front, the Bethlehem Hospital sleeper, made signs of awakening yesterday, and opened his eyes several times. The doctors are encouraged and expect him to come out of his trance at any moment.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. There is no reason why the lungs should remain weak. Weak lungs predispose a child to consumption. They provide a place for germs to settle. That is all that is necessary. Only let the germs of disease gain a foothold, and they increase with a deadly rapidity. Pretty soon the blood is full of them, and so loses its healthfulness and its strength-giving qualities. If the weakness is in some other organ, the disease will show itself in that organ. The germs will get into the blood, just the same, and the body will begin to lose strength. We speak particularly of consumption because it is most common, because it causes more than one-sixth of all deaths in the world.

If there is a weak and crumbly spot in the foundation of a house, the owner cleans out the decaying material, supplants it with new, strong stuff. That's all there is to do. That's what's necessary.

That is exactly the thing to do with the lungs. Keep them full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body. It exterminates them completely and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion right. It supplies the needed nutriment to all the tissues and makes sound, healthy flesh.

There are some interesting facts about it in our chapter of Dr. Pierce's great work, "Common Sense Medical Advice." This book of 1008 pages will be sent free on receipt of twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
